K. OF P. ENTERTAINMENT.

The Knights of Pythias are making arrangements for a fine entertainment to be given at their commodious hall on Brand boulevard, on the evening of the 29th, by the University of Southern California Glee Club. This entertainment is said to be high-class in character, having been given at Redlands and Riverside and elsewhere to fine audiences. Tickets will be on sale at both drug stores and at the Pacific Electric depot. Admission 35 cents.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.

There was a fairly well attended meeting of the Board of Trade last Monday evening. The matter of street lighting was discussed at some length and a resolution was finally adopted requesting the city trustees to provide temporary lights on Glendale avenue at Third and Fourth streets. The matter of providing resting places for visitors to our city, particularly at the terminus of the Eagle-Rock and Glendale railway line on Glendale avenue was taken up and the necessity of having something in the way of shelter and seats was generally agreed upon as being a necessity. It was finally decided to make arrangements with Mr. Patterson, owner of the property on the northeast corner of Fourth and Glendale avenue, and erect thereon a suitable building, a small pavilion, which would answer the purpose at least temporarily. A discussion of ways and means followed. Mr. E. B. Valentine volunteered to give a first-class concert to take place at Odd Fellows' hall some evening in the near future, which entertainment would be second to none that has ever been given here, the performers being Los Angeles musical people of high ability, well known artists in their line. Committees were appointed by President F. H. Vesper to look after all details. A resolution was adopted requesting Postmaster Flint of Los Angeles to arrange that the lobby of our local postoffice be kept open until 8 p. m., as the closing at 6 o'clock works a hardship upon patrons who receive mail from boxes. Mr. G. H. Barrager, secretary of the board, presented his resignation owing to the pressure of private business which makes it impossible for him ot fill the position. Action upon the resignation was deferred.

It was unanimously resolved to invite the ladies of the Tuesday Afternoon Club to meet with the Board at Odd Fellows hall at a meeting to be held there next Tuesday evening and assist in making the proposed concert a success.

An executive board was appointed consisting of the following: R. A. Blackburn, G. H. Barager, F. R. Sinclair, G. W. Benson, J. P. Shropshire and Wilmot Parcher.

Board adjourned to meet next Tuesday evening at Odd Fellows hall.

HIGH SCHOOL.

Saturday, April 10th, Glendale took second place in the Los Angeles county invitation meet held at U. S. C. in her division. The full track team did not enter and a better showing could have been made if the team had not had a week of vacation previous to the meet.

In the hundred-yard dash, Stine was a close second to Jackson of Citrus, who had evidently trained hard to wipe out his defeat by Stine at the Suburban meet. In the pole vault three men tied for first. In vaulting it off a Santa Paula man took first, Walton of Glendale tied for second and drew for the medal. Citrus got third. In the 120-hurdles, Taylor ran a close race to an Oxnard man, making second place. Stine easily won the 220-hurdles at 27 2-5, with Kern third. Walton won the half-mile easily in 2:12, finishing thirty yards ahead of the second man. Emery got a third in the hammer throw. The final race was the mile relay, as Glendale had never run the mile relay before they were not sure of the outcome. Kern, Cotterall, Walton and Stine all ran splendidly taking the race with a big lead. Compton finished second. Time 3:42 2-3.

The game of baseball to come off this afternoon at 2:30 on the Glendale grounds, promises to be an interesting one. Glendale is pitted against the Monrovia team, a strong combination of players, and as Glendale is not in very good practice the odds are in favor of the visitors, although the home boys will make them work for any glory they may get.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Glendale Building Association (which erected and owns the First National Bank building) was held last Saturday evening. The report submitted by the secretary, Mr. G. U. Moyse, was very satisfactory to the stockholders assembled. An election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mr. L. C. Brand; vice president, Mr. A. W. Collins; secretary, Mr. G. U. Moyse. The following members of the Board of Trustees were elected for the ensuing year: L. C. Brand, Dan Campbell, C. E. Shattuck, A. W. Collins, D. McNevin, G. U. Moyse and J. C. Sherer.

EAGLE ROCK

WHAT'S DOING IN THE VALLEY

A Good Bunch of Items, Business, Social, Personal and Otherwise

NOTICE.

Owing to the continued absence of Mr. H. C. Tupper from the valley, Mr. Lester Edwards has been appointed agent for the NEWS in Eagle Rock. Subscribers who have not received their copies of the paper, will please hand in their names to Mr. Edwards, who will receive subscriptions, advertising, job work, news items, etc.

THE GLENDALE NEWS.

BEAUTIFUL EAGLE ROCK VALLEY.

Mrs. M. T. Warren.

Where the palm trees wave, and the popies so fair,
Invite to repose on the soft, slumbrous air,
The almond and orange, with their blossoming sweet,
Hint of romance and beauty in unison meet.

Stands the rock, where the eagle from its flight through the air
Poised so long in its wonder, 'twas petrified there,
But the eaglets born on that summit so high,
From their home at the top, could step to the sky.

Oh, vale of enchantment! In their wanderings free,
The angels were lost in contemplating thee,
But 'twere vain and ungrateful for them to repine,
Since the fields of Elysian must be so much like thine.

Oh, sunshine and blossom! Oh, mountain and sea!
Where else could be found such complete unity?
For the earth, and the air, and the water combine
To fashion a landscape so grandly sublime.

News items and advertisements will receive prompt attention by phoning Sunset East 1737.

Miss Margaret Culver of Gardena is visiting her cousin, Mrs. May Young, in Eagle Rock.

Mrs. H. Garfield of Eagle Rock has left for Whitman, Mass., to visit her mother, who is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. May Young of Eagle Rock will leave for Gardena, Sunday, to visit Miss Margaret Culver.

The Eagle Rock school was closed suddenly on account of scarlet fever which broke out Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Edwards of Los Angeles, visited Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Needham of Acacia avenue, Sunday.

Mr. Otto Lockwood has opened a first-class grocery store at the corner of Avoca and Sycamore avenue, Eagle Rock.

The Sunset Telephone company have extended their line up Sycamore avenue from Central avenue to Avoca avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Allen of Kenilworth avenue are entertaining Mr. W. R. Allen and family of Los Angeles for some time.

Rev. Mr. Spangler and wife of Boyle Heights, Los Angeles, expect to move into their new home on Castle avenue, about the first of May.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Bryan of Acacia avenue are entertaining Mrs. Nance Gardner of Pasadena, who is well known in society circles there.

Dr. Alice Anderson, who came from the East to visit Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Bryan of Acacia street, has decided to remain here permanently and will open offices in Los Angeles.

Mr. Shoemaker, one of the foremost realty men of Southern California, stated that he noticed the rapid progress going on in the valley and that the valley averages a house a week.

The lumber for Edwards and Wildey Company's new building which is to be erected at the corner of Colorado and Central, arrived Tuesday afternoon. The California Building Company has the contract.

Lee Adams started his teams to work to grade Townsend avenue from Colorado to Sycamore avenue. This will afford the traffic a short way from Eagle Rock avenue line to the Eagle Rock Valley car line. Keep it up, Lee.

Miss Frances Dodge, the teacher of the primary grades, received a letter of thanks for the drawing the fourth grade finished, from Mark Keppel, the county superintendent. The first grade has just finished some fine arafea baskets.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Booth of Castle avenue left Wednesday morning on the daylight limited for San Francisco, where they will leave Thursday morning at eleven o'clock on the steamer Maraposa for the island of Tahiti. They will be on the water twenty-six days, and four days on the island. Eagle Rock wishes Mr. and Mrs. Booth a safe and pleasant trip both ways.

Say! Have you noticed the fifteen-minute schedule on the Los Angeles Railway company's cars. Do you know what that means. It means that more people are coming into the valley; that more realty sales are being made; that more houses are being built. This fifteen-minute service is only on Sunday, but it will only be a short time before they will have to have fifteen minute service daily.

The Congregational church of Eagle Rock is going to give a minstrel show at Symphony hall, Wednesday evening, April 21. The admission will be fifty cents, and will be well worth the price. Those who are to take part are as follows: Mr. H. C. Clause, as interlocutor; Mr. T. H. Astrem and Mr. A. W. Hare as end men. Others taking part will be Mrs. Schrieber, Mrs. Kern, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Reed and Mrs. W. K. Cowan, Miss Peterson, Miss Hare, Messrs. Peterson, H. S. Borne, John T. Bailey, Elmer Richardson, L. R. Garrett, Earl Winslow.

There will be a quartet by the Hare sisters. Old plantation airs and coon songs will be in great numbers.

Earl Winslow will give a monlogue and local hits in the songs and jokes by the end men. There will also be buck and wing dancing, which will conclude the performance.

Glendale, Tropico, Burbank and Casa Verdugo will be heartily welcomed.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Valley held held a social Monday evening at the residence of Mrs. Charles Young. The evening was spent in various games. Miss Amber Young entertained the guests with a solo which was greatly appreciated. A supper was served on the cafateria plan for the benefit of the church, which proved a success. The guests' names are as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Rickman, Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Schreiber, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Buck, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Borne, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Nahousa, W. H. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hare, Mr. and Mrs. W. Weir, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Sparrie, Mr. H. Rhodes, Mrs. M. E. Swan, Mrs. N. R. Cook, Dr. Phinney, Miss Anna Swan, Miss Anna Hare, Miss Bessie Hare, Mrs. E. W. Zoline, Miss Amber Young, Master Wallace Tupper, Master Ahren Zoline, Mrs. Woods and others.

FOR SALE.

White Leghorn Pullets. Also eggs for hatching. Phone East 2469, or call at La Arboleda, Sycamore avenue, Eagle Rock.

FRATERNAL BROTHERHOOD ENTERTAINMENT.

The open lodge meeting of the Fraternal Brotherhood at Odd Fellows' Hall Friday evening, presented a program which was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number of invited guests and members of the order. The program was in charge of Mr. E. B. Valentine, whose efforts to entertain were certainly crowned with success. The orchestra composed of members from Tropico and Glendale, did excellent work. Master Iglasius, the phenomenal boy violinist, who has played once or twice before to a Glendale audience, rendered with fine feeling a selection from Paganini's arrangement of the "Carnival of Venice." The Eagle Rock quartet, composed of four young ladies from our nearby neighboring town, made their first appearance on this side of the hills that divide the two communities and "brought down the house." They were encored again and again. Their singing of the original song with the refrain, "The little old town of Eagle Rock is good enough for me," was certainly an immense success. The drill team from the home lodge in Los Angeles went through some intricate evolutions which showed great skill, although a number of substitute members in the team prevented them from giving their best work. A generous repast, consisting of varieties of cake with coffee was the closing feature of a very pleasant evening.

The following is the schedule for the base ball team: April 17, Monrovia vs. Glendale at Glendale. April 24, Covina vs. Glendale at Covina. May 8, Downey vs Glendale at Glendale. May 15, Compton vs. Glendale at Compton. May 22, Bonita vs. Glendale at Glendale. May 29, Citrus vs. Glendale at Citrus.

ART DISPLAY.

Very general interest was expressed in the display of art as executed by members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club this week at Guild Hall. Much credit is due Miss Mary Blackburn, Mrs. E. B. Newcomb, Mrs. J. N. Witham and Mrs. O. E. Patterson for the arrangement of exhibits and the pleasing little program given.

There were numerous landscapes in oil and water color, some still-life studies and flower-pieces that were given creditable notice. Beautiful indeed were some specimens of art needle-work of which the Hardinger bed-spread and bolster were notable. Of interest was the dainty bit of lace in process of manufacture, and the piece of conventionalized sampler work. Embroidered cushions, table-spreads, lunch cloths, doilies and center-pieces were admired, also a handsome pair of lace-trimmed curtains, hand-made. The pictures about the walls, of course, attracted first attention, but no little interest was shown in such displays as clay-modeling studies copied from natural flowers, Kensington work, etc. Perhaps the china painting appealed to most, as some very creditable work was shown. Nothing exhibited was better than the miniatures executed by Miss Mary Blackburn, and they merited the praise awarded them. The sketches of South African wild flowers by Mrs. Wessels of the Sanitarium were perhaps conceded to be the best in its class. So much was exhibited, and still the ladies have so many articles which were not used, in fact, not thought of, in time, that perhaps there will be another like affair next season. Mrs. Edgar Leavitt displayed some magnificent specimens of Japanese wisteria grown at "Whispering Pines." Mrs. Walter C. Fraley, whose birthday it was, sang "If You Were Born in April," followed by a pretty encore. Miss Anna Angsberger, as an instrumental solo, rendered "The Orgie," and the club poetess gave, in her sweet, inimitable style, an original poem written for the occasion as follows:

MOTHERS' DAY.

On Monday afternon, April 12th, at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bryant, "Mother's Day" was observed in a happy manner by members of Chapter L, P. E. O., when they entertained their mothers and friends, borrowed to pose as such. To typify the blithe beauty of an April day, the rooms were embowered in lilies, trailing vines of snowwhite wisteria and great masses of yellow Southern Jesmine, whose fragrance filled the house. Mrs. Bryant was assisted in receiving by Mrs. R. D. Goss and Miss Ruth Byram. Several out-of-town guests were present and the social hour was thoroughly enjoyed. A short program was given under direction of Mrs. Bertha Fuller, Mrs. May Chase and Mrs. Bernice Williams. The P. E. O. choir gave the two numbers they had given last week at the State convention. Mrs. Edith Hunchberger presented two old-time readings that were much praised. Sweet solos, such as mother's love, were given by Mrs. Emma Burket and Josephine Bryant. Mrs. Chase told a laughable little story of childhood days. At the close Mrs. Williams read "Only Martha," preceded by a lively piano duet by Elizabeth Moyse and Emma Burket.

The last hour of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Burket, Mrs. Agnes Albright, and Mrs. Jessie Russell when delicious refreshments were served.

BUILDING OPERATIONS.

New houses continue to be added to the list which has been growing so rapidly during the past two years.

Mr. W. B. Mather, who is the owner of twenty lots on Louise street north of the city limits, has begun the erection of a fine residence upon the tract and intends to build others in the near future.

Mr. Willson is also building a house near Casa Verdugo. Edna P. Hann is building a one-story five-room residence at 910 W. Sixth street, to cost $1200.

H. D. Brown is building a story and a half residence of six rooms at 1319 Chestnut street, cost $1800.

G. A. Smith is building at 936 Chestnut street a house of one story with five rooms, to cost $1500; Henry Johnston, contractor.

Mr. H. M. Dall, at 873 S. Louise street, is building a one-story seven-room house, to cost $2600; C. B. Franklin, contractor.

Mr. G. H. Barager has sold his home on Cedar street to F. W. Anderson, who has occupied the premises with his family. Mr. Barager expects to put up a fine residence on Adams street.

Mesdames M. Carland and J. Krantz of Ohio arrived here the first of the week and contemplate spending the summer at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Berger of Fillmore who have purchased the property of W. Beavis, are remodeling the place and will take possession shortly.

Mrs. J. Dike of Sprague, Wash., who has been the house guest of her niece, Mrs. Fred White, left Tuesday to visit with Los Angeles friends and relatives.

Miss Ida Thompson, who has been spending the past two months at the home of her brother, Dr. E. H. Thompson, departed on Wednesday for her home in Wisconsin.

Mrs. R. P. Scott, Mrs. C. Scott and Miss Ida Stauffer, who have been visiting for the past month at the home of J. L. Robison, father of Mrs. R. P. Scott, returned to their home at Cadiz, Ohio, on Wednesday.

Mrs. H. W. Roscoup entertained in a most charming manner the ladies of the Five Hundred club at her home, Wednesday afternoon. Scores were kept on dainty hand-painted cards and Mrs. E. A. Fischer secured the prize. Dainty and delicious refreshments were served.

Hardy Riddell met with a serious accident while at his ranch at Lancaster, Tuesday morning. He was trying to catch a horse and was just putting the halter over its head, when it suddenly turned and kicked him in the face. No bones were broken, but the left side of his face was very badly cut.

Miss Myrtle Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Richards, died Sunday evening at the home of her parents. She had been ill for a number of years and died suddenly Sunday evening. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Morrison of Tropico, Tuesday afternoon at the home. Interment at Grand View cemetery.

TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The people generally are hereby notified again that this paper is not a charitable concern and they are not required to take it from the postoffice if they do not want it. If they do take it from the office, however, they are expected to pay for it. We do not stop a paper at the expiration of the time for which payment has been made usually, because this is just what the majority of our subscribers do not want us to do. Delinquents to whom bills have been sent will please understand that a notice to stop the paper or a refusal to take it from the postoffice does not cancel their debt. We will cheerfully stop sending it to any one who does not want it, but we expect payment for it to date.

PUBLISHER OF THE NEWS.

Lieut. Ernest H. Shackleton of the British navy has penetrated to within 111 miles of the south pole at which point he planted the British flag. This is the nearest approach to either pole that has been achieved.

Our friends the Los Angeles recallers, must have thoughts that are rather mixed in their nature when they reflect that "Uncle George" has pleased the Los Angeles Times in his appointment of a chief of police!

South Pasadena wants to change its name. We don't blame it. Our older sixth class sister city has grown to be a place of sufficient importance to be allowed a divorce from Pasadena proper, and to stand on its own merits as far as nomenclature and everything else is concerned.

Our friends and patrons are reminded that we wish to publish all the news from all of the valley and that any failure to do so is merely the result of oversight, or owing to the fact that we were not notified so that we could give the matter attention. The editor of a newspaper outside of large cities must necessarily rely to a considerable extent upon voluntary contributions of news items and we will appreciate any donations of this character.

Knowing personally something of the political methods of Mr. Oscar Lawler, recently appointed assistant United States attorney general at Washington, we are not enthusiastic over his promotion; but the fact that he has received a number of threatening letters from anonymous correspondents of the anarchistic kind, causes him to rise several degrees in our estimation. A public official must have merit to receive such tributes from the criminal element.

Because we do not believe in the innumerable cure-alls which are so dear to the hearts of some of the best people in the world, it does not follow that we think them useless. On the contrary every one of them has some particular merit of its own, however infinitessimal. The probabilities are strongly against any one of them doing the thing that its advocates honestly believe it will do, and yet for the individual who believes in it honestly and strives more or less heroically for its success, it is possibly the one thing to him of most essential value, and as far as the effect of his efforts upon the world at large is concerned, although resulting in apparent failure, who of us can say that in the final summing up of things it may not be written "He builded better than he knew?"

THE METHODS OF NATURE.

In a line with our article last week on "Character Building," we find this sentiment in the Christian Register of recent date. We do not mean that it applies to all churches, however.

Take root downward and bear fruit upward. This is the good old method of nature approved by all wise seedsmen and gardeners. The work of the church is to plant seeds, roots and bulbs, to provide proper conditions for their growth, and then to let them grow and bear fruit each after its kind. The popular method is to force the growing of fruits, leaving the roots to take care of themselves. The church of the latter kind is fussy, busy, rattling and noisy, but so slightly rooted in the spiritual life that it may vanish at any time. It may grow like the famous gourd of the ancient time and vanish in a similar fashion.

On April 9th, 1865, Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered the army of the Confederacy to the victorious forces of Gen. Grant at Appomatox Court House, Virginia. This occurred at about ten o'clock in the morning. During the afternoon of the same day, a bloody battle occurred at Mobile, Ala., where the Union troops which had mached overland from Pensacola, Florida, to attack the Confederates in the rear, while the naval forces held the front, threw themselves upon the fortifications of their opponents, overcame all obstacles and captured the city. Not until the following day did the victorious army learn of Lee's surrender and become aware of the sad fact that their valor and the bloody battle which had cost the lives of many of their comrades, had been in vain, a useless waste (had they only known) of precious lives. In this battle two of our fellow townsmen, Mr. B. F. Patterson and Mr. G. W. Sanford were engaged.

LET THERE BE LIGHT.

The board of trade has sent in to the city trustees a petition to have street lights placed on the corners of Glendale avenue at the junctions of Third and Fourth streets. Under present conditions it seems to us that this request should be complied with as a temporary measure to tide over the time until it is decided what we shall do in regard to a lighting system that shall be relatively permanent. The former arrangement with the lighting company was very unsatisfactory, as the service was very unreliable; the difficulty being that the company could not afford to keep an extra man on duty to attend to the lights for the amount paid ($50 per month). We understand that Mr. Brand, president of the lighting company, offers to furnish ten street lights for the sum of one hundred dollars per month. Assuming that the service would require the company to employ an extra man, the figure is entirely reasonable. We believe, however, that gasoline or some other style of street lamp can be secured at considerably less money than this. If not, however, then it will be better to accept Mr. Brand's offer than to allow our city streets to be unlighted any longer; for the fact that we have no street lights on even the most prominent street corners is commented upon unfavorably and acts as a clog upon our progress.

THE FOURTEENTH OF APRIL.

The writer remembers an April afternoon forty-four years ago, when for awhile it seemed to his childish mind that the light of the world had suffered an eclipse. The mail had just arrived at the postoffice of the country village in which he lived and the daily paper from Baltimore, fifty miles away, had brought to the people of the village the news of the dreadful tragedy. The Great Emancipator was the idol of his boyish fancy; he had heard daily for four years from the lips of his seniors the stories of the battles that were being fought and discussions of the issues involved. And always the stories told and the earnest discussions hinged upon and were centered around the one inspiring and inspired personage! He had been entranced by the story of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," thrilled by "John Brown's Body Life," and all his sympathies were with the forces that to his youthful mind seemed to be battling for the freedom of a race! No wonder then that he ran home quickly with the news of dreadful import, which he announced almost incoherently and cried aloud in the abandonment of grief. And it was an elder sister who spoke to him the words intended to comfort, but that fell rather short of their purpose, "Never mind, my boy, we will have another president." And so we have; successors to the number of eleven have sat in the seat that was filled by Lincoln, and, in the words of Garfield, "the government at Washington still lives."

It is well that not only the day of the birth of Abraham Lincoln should be remembered with thanksgiving, but that in sober thought the minds of the people of the country that he loved and died for, should turn back in chastened sorrow, for a brief space at least, to that April day, when his rare spirit passed from earth and his name was written in the roll of the immortals.

SWINBURN-MODJESKA-CRAWFORD

Within a week of one another, three notables in the world of art have passed away: Charles Algernon Swinburne, Helene Modjeska and Marion Crawford. Probably the poet whose name heads the list, is the most famous of the trio and of the three had the largest measure of that rare and elusive quality which we call genius. But they were not competitors. The poet, the novelist and the actor move in different spheres and each one in his own particular realm, when his work is well done, adds much to the happiness of his fellows. Swinburn was the last of the poets that helped to make the reign of Victoria notable in literature. He was a contemporary of Tennyson, Browning and Morris, all of whom graced to a preeminent degree the field of English literature. That he did not quite achieve greatness seems to be accounted for by something lacking in the man, the absence of a serious purpose or a rift in his moral nature. For he had certainly poetic talent of a high order and was without a superior in the mellifluous arrangement of words. Here is an extract from "Atlanta in Calydon:"

"Before the beginning of years
There came to the making of man
Time, with a gift of tears;
Grief, with a glass that ran;
Pleasure, with pain for leven;
Summer with flowers that fell;
Remembrance fallen from Heaven,
And madness risen from hell;
Strength without hands to smite,
Love that endures for a breath;
Night, the shadow of light,
And life, the shadow of death."

The name of Modjeska has been familiar to theater goers and others for a generation and she was an acknowledged star of nearly the first magnitude. She graced the stage by her talent and no breath of scandal tarnished her reputation as a woman. She married the Count Bozenta and twenty years or so ago they bought a place up in Santiago Canyon above Anaheim so that California has a claim upon the fair fame of this talented daughter of Poland.

Marion Crawford achieved fame a score or so of years ago when he wrote "Mr. Isaacs," an East Indian story with a fascinating touch of the mysticism of Yogis and Mahatmas. He turned out on an average about two novels a year ever since and some more serious volumes besides. Prolific as he was with his pen, the product was always of high quality. He was a son of the sculptor Crawford and a nephew of Julia Ward Howe, so that his talent came to him by natural descent. The passing of this gifted trio from the mortal scene is a distinct loss to a world that has no more of a plethora of genius today than in the slower ages of the past.

OSWALD'S STORY OF "GRAFT" IN LOS ANGELES.

Lured back to Los Angeles by promise of immunity from prosecution for perjury committed when he testified before the regular grand jury that he knew nothing of "Graft" in that city, Nick Oswald, "King of the Tenderloin," has told what is probably a truthful story, in part at least, of the systematic manner in which he and his associates, city officials of Los Angeles, gathered in a large income from the unfortunate women of the underworld under police protection. His story implicates ex-Mayor Harper, ex-Chief of Police Kern, Capt. Broadhead of the police department, ex-Commissioner Sam Schenck and possibly others. There are numerous sidelights thrown over the whole "anti-vice crusade" by the story, which are interesting. The testimony of Mr. E. T. Earl shows Mr. Thomas Woolwine up in his true light, that of an agitator on general principles, possessing no reliable facts to sustain his assertions. In regard to Woolwine, Mr. Earl testified as follows: "I told him one day that he was a d—d fool for making such a racket without getting the evidence first," and in replying to a question he testified that he (Woolwine) never furnished him with evidence of any character or description. Mr. Earl also testified that he never found that any member of the city attorney's office had any evidence of value. This indicates also that Mr. Earl himself had been firing rather recklessly into space in making his charges against Harper and others, and that his success finally in bringing down the game was simply the good fortune of a random shot. Finding that the grand jury had adjourned without sustaining his charges and thus furnishing him a successful defense in the trial of the libel suits against him, Mr. Earl, being well balanced mentally, did not waste his time talking through his paper about a "white wash" as did some of his more superficial contemporaries, journalistic and otherwise, but took steps to secure, regardless of cost, the testimony so vital to his interests, which the grand jury had evidently not been able to obtain. It was very evident that if a corrupt combine between city officials and others existed, that Nick Oswald was in it, for it was he who had built one or more of the "cribs" in the "red light" district, where the unfortunate women were charged exhorbitant rentals and from the proceeds of which the dividends were paid. It cost something like ten thousand dollars to get the story from Oswald—but it was worth the money under the circumstances. Mr. Earl's admission of the weakness of his defense without Oswald's testimony is also justification of the report of the grand jury which in the absence of such evidence could do nothing more than state the facts as developed without bringing in indictments or accusations which were not sustained by proof. The case certainly looks very bad for ex-Mayor Harper, whose downfall will serve as a text for as many sermons upon the results of keeping bad company and departing from the straight and narrow path generally as our preachers in and out of the pulpit may care to indulge in.

Meteor Streams and Comets.

II.

It is highly probable that all meteors and shooting stars pursue a regular and permanent orbit, of great ellipticity, round the sun. In some cases the meteors are distributed, or scattered, in a continuous stream along the whole course of the orbit; but in other cases they appear to be bunched or concentrated more or less in a swarm, at one particular point. When they are scattered, as in the first case, the earth will encounter them every year when it arrives at the point where the two orbits intersect. In the other case, we encounter them only when the earth happens to arrive at the point of intersection at the same time as the "gem of the ring," as the bunch or concentration has been called.

A great number of these meteor systems, of both kinds, are well known to astronomers, and over fifty of them are charted in popular almanacs, two or three in every month of the year. Six in May, nine in July, seven in August, six in November; so our patient watcher would be well repaid for his vigilance. Most of these displays indicate a system of scattered meteors, some of whose members coming within the earth's attraction, on rushing into the atmosphere are raised to incandescence by the resulting friction, and form a brilliant, momentary spectacle, before their final evaporation and extinction. They thus become separated from the main swarm and terminate a journey of many centuries and many thousands of millions of miles. We have no means of ascertaining how many times these little particles, which blaze out so brilliantly in our skies, may have completed their orbits round the sun before being caught by the earth and manifesting themselves in the moment of their dissolution. For, of course, it is only at such moments that we have any evidence of their existence, and if none of them ever got separated in this way, but pursued their courses without coming into the earth's atmosphere, we should probably be entirely ignorant of them.

There is one meteor system of the "bunching" kind which deserves special mention, having become celebrated on account of the brilliant display which is occasioned at two or three of its encounters with the earth. It was found that the earth met this "bunch" periodically about every 33 years, making its appearance in the constellation of Leo, and therefore called the "Leonids" on the 13th or 14th of November; the date varying slightly on account of leap year.

Probably the most remarkable of all meteroic showers that ever occurred was that of the Leonids on November 12th, 1833. The number at some stations was estimated at 100,000 an hour, for five or six hours. One observer said "the sky was as full of meteors as ever it is of snowflakes in a snow storm." A very brilliant display of this stream was also witnessed in 1866 and great was the disappointment of all interested in these phenomena that the expected display failed to materialize in November, 1899, at which time another encounter with the "gem in the ring," was due. But it appears that just prior to that date the planet Jupiter so disturbed their movements that the main body of meteors was probably too far from the earth at the time of intersecting its orbit, to come within its attraction, and only a very scanty shower appeared. Just exactly what has happened to the system we do not know, and we shall probably have no chance of investigating the matter further until November, 1933, at which date another encounter is due.

Soon after the 1866 display it was discovered that the orbit pursued by these meteors was identical with that of a small comet discovered by Tempel in 1865, which had been visible about a year before. About the same time Schiaparelli, the Italian astronomer, discovered that the Perseids, or August meteors, move in an orbit identical with that of the bright comet of 1862, and known as Tuttle's. Five years later the Andromedids were identified in their orbit with Biela's comet, and now many meteor streams are identified with certain well known comets. It appears thus not unlikely that the comet is the parent body, so to speak, of a meteor stream, and is itself situated in the thickest part of the swarm of meteors, the clouds of meteors scattered along its orbit being only the result of a constant process of disintegration. It would necessarily follow that if a comet is really such a swarm it must gradually break up more and more and disperse its constituent particles along its orbit, until the compact swarm becomes a diffuse ring. And the longer a comet has been traveling its orbit the more uniformly its particles will be distributed.

The Perseids are supposed, therefore, to have been in our system for a long time, while the Leonids and Andromedids are believed to be comparatively newcomers.

The French astronomer, Leverrier, indicated the year 126 A. D. as the time at which Uranus captured Tempel's comet, and brought it into our sun's influence. With an orbit which brings it to perihelian about three times every century, it has, up to the present time, not been in the sun's influence long enough for its particles to become very much dispersed, unless indeed the failure of 1899 marked the beginning of the dispersal.

Biela's double comet has not re-appeared during the last fifty years, although it had only a short period of six years, but its materials appear to have been distributed into a stream of shooting stars. Brorsen's comet has also been missing, and may have followed the same fate.

While it is probable that the materials of which these presumably lost comets were compassed still exist and continue to pursue their orbits round the sun, it is doubtful whether they will ever be viewed again under the same aspect as formerly. And again, while it is almost certain that new comets of short period are continually being introduced into our system by the influence of the great planets, it is also probable that some of them may by the same influence be ejected to outer space again, and whether the disappearance of these comets is due to dispersal of particles by disintegration, or to ejectment by planetary influence, it is impossible to say at the present time.

The origin of meteors has been the subject of much discussion and conjecture from time immemorial, and various theories, amounting however to little more than crude guesses, were propounded to account for them. Thus it was at one time thought that they had been ejected from volcanoes on the earth, beyond the latter's attraction, at a period in terrestrial evolution when volcanoes were much more powerful and active than at present. Others believed that they had in past ages been thrown from gigantic volcanoes on the moon, before the latter had settled down to extinct decrepitude as we know it today. And although this most interesting branch of Astronomical science is still only in its infancy, it appears probable that most if not all meteors and shooting stars are the result of cometary disintegration.

P. E. O. CONVENTION.

The sixth annual convention of California grand chapter of the P. E. O. Sisterhood convened in Pasadena, April 7, 8, and 9th, in the First Christian Church. Delegates were present from every chapter in the state. Almost the entire Glendale chapter attended and on Friday furnished a number on the program. The P. E. O. sisterhood is actively engaged in such matters as literature, philanthropy and social improvement work. Mrs. Baldridge, second vice president, was on Monday a guest of the local chapter in Glendale. Electric of supreme officers closed the convention Friday afternoon.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

April 18th, 1909.

(Copyright, 1908, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)

The Conversion of Saul.—Acts ix: 1-30.

Golden Text—He fell to the earth and heard a voice saying until him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? Acts ix:4.

Verses 1-2—From experience, philosophically, theologically, psychologically, or any other way, how do you account for the bitter hatred of Saul for Christians?

After his conversion, did he show the same hatred toward those who opposed Christianity?

Does history justify the statement that, zealous religionists, who have not known, nor experienced the love of God, have been exceedingly cruel and bitter men?

Verses 3-4—What was the nature of the light that shined around Saul? (See Acts xxii:6, xxvi:13, I Cor. xv:8.)

Whose voice was it that Saul heard?

What reason is there to believe that this was a real voice with outward sound?

Is there any sinner so bad that Jesus does not call him to repent?

Had Saul actually been persecuting Jesus? (See Matt. 25:40.)

If we hurt or help a Christian, is that actually done to Jesus?

Is there a sense in which a Christian is the actual Christ?

Verse 5—Did Saul know from the first who it was that spake to him?

Does it always consciously hurt to fight against God?

Does wrong doing always hurt whether done in ignorance or not?

Verse 6—What makes sinners always tremble when God reproves them for their sins?

At what stage does God forgive a convicted sinner?

When was Saul actually converted?

Why did not Jesus tell Saul there and then, what he wanted him to do?

Verse 7—Why does the supernatural always frighten people?

Verses 8-9—What had blinded Saul?

How did Saul spend the days that he was without sight?

Did he fast because he had no desire for food, or was it a religious fast?

Is fasting of any use in these days as a help to spiritual life?

Verses 10-12—May the ability to hear God speak, be acquired by all true Christians?

Have you any experience of God telling more than one person the same thing, so that when they came to compare experiences, God's message was confirmed?

Will God always prepare us for our work, and prepare the work for us?

Verses 13-16—Is God pleased, or displeased, if we do not accept what he says, when it is not clear to us?

Verses 17-18—Did Saul at this time receive the Holy Ghost, or at the time of his conversion, and when do Christians generally receive him? (This question must be answering in writing by members of the club.)

Verses 19-22—Do all genuine converts like Saul, commence immediately to get others converted?

What was the power in Saul which gave him his great zeal, and is the same power available for every Christian?

Verses 23-25—If a person feels, or acts, in a bitter spirit toward one of a different faith, is that proof that he is not in touch with the true God?

Verses 26-30—Are Christians justified is being cautious in receiving strangers?

What is the best way for a young convert to show he really is a Christion?

Is a true, earnest, aggressive Christian as liable to give offense in these days as was Saul?

Lesson for Sunday, April 25th, 1909. —The Gospel in Antioch. Acts xi:19-30; xii:25.

Scorched Table Linen.

When the three men sat down the leader of the trio began a minute inspection of the tablecloth. Presently he put his finger on several little scorched spots.

"See this?" he said to the waiter.

"Yes, sir."

"Well," said the man, "just bear in mind, won't you, that these holes were here when we came in? And when we get through don't tack a dollar on to our bill to pay for burned table linen."

"That's all right," said the waiter. "I'll look out for that."

The order having been given, the cautious diner elucidated his remarks still further. "That is a trick those fellows have," he said. "Somebody burns the tablecloth with sparks from a cigar and gets away before the damage is discovered, and the next comer, if he happens to be a smoker, is blamed for his predecessor's sins and is charged with the cost of the linen. I have had to pay well for other people's carelessness, so nowadays I make it a point to examine tablecloths at the beginning of a meal."—New York Press.

A Royal Romance.

The second son of Prince Oscar II. fell in love with a Miss Ebba Munck while at Bournemouth. She was one of the ladies in waiting to the Swedish crown princess, and King Oscar wished his son to make an alliance with one of the royal houses of Europe. The difficulty seemed one to be met only by drastic steps on the part of the lovers, but Queen Sophie's heart was won, and she it was who obtained the king's consent. She was very ill, and a dangerous operation was the only chance of saving her life. "If I undergo it and it is successful, will you allow Oscar and Ebba to be married?" she asked the king, and of course the king promised. A year later the queen was quite well again. The lovers were in her room when the king approached. At the door he stood and listened. Miss Munck was singing to the queen, and he waited until it was over. Then he advanced, held out one hand to his son and gave his other to Miss Munck, and so his pledge was fulfilled and the couple came into their happiness.

A Narrow Escape.

An old circus man tells this incident as one of the narrow escapes he had in the show business. He had trained lions, zebras, leopards, rhino—you know—and all sorts of beasts of prey, but this, he says, was his narrowest escape. It was when he was running a dime museum in Milwaukee.

One day a mild mannered Russian came out of the railway station with a valise in his hand. He was a heavily bearded man and with shaggy hands and arms like George Esau. He hunted up a cabman and inquired modestly, "Where is the dime museum?"

The cabman told him and then asked, "Want to ride up?"

"Yes," the bearded stranger told him quietly, almost bashfully. "I'm to be employed up there. I'm the wild man."

"The narrow escape," says the ex-circus man, "lay in the fact that no newspaper man heard the man's remark and that the cabman was an Englishman, with no sense of humor, who never thought to repeat it."—Exchange.

A Fulsome Compliment.

During Mr. Cleveland's tour of the south shortly after his marriage Mrs. Cleveland and he were driving one day through the streets of one of the larger towns escorted by two of its citizens. Some one threw a bunch of violets to Mrs. Cleveland, and Mr. Cleveland bent forward to catch it, remarking as he presented it, "I wonder why no one gives me flowers."

One of the gentlemen present gallantly replied, "We think you have won the fairest flower in all the land."

"Ah, yes," returned the president; "but, you see, I can't keep her in water!"

"It is not necessary since you keep her in such excellent spirits," was the reply.

Here Mrs. Cleveland interposed, saying, "I am afraid you are guilty of flattery," whereupon came the reply:

"No, madam. Flattery is fulsome compliment, and in this instance no compliment could be either too frank or too fulsome."

The charm of this response lies in the last and fourth from the last words, Mrs. Cleveland's maiden name being Frances Folsom.

Hicks' Story.

It was in 1847 that Hicks first made a county name as a witty raconteur. In that year Sir Samuel Spry, who had been member for Bodmin since the great reform bill, lost his seat and in a petulant mood took legal proceedings against Hicks on the ground that he had abused his official position to influence voters at the poll. In the course of the trial Hicks was called upon to state what he had to say in his defense. In the course of his statement he asked leave of the court to illustrate his position by a story. His request being assented to, he related how a few days previously he had been to see a lad whom he knew well who was laid up from a fall from a vicious donkey, which had kicked out all his front teeth. The lad, said Hicks, had taken the matter in the most kindly way and had said to him, "'Tisn't the fall, Mr. Hicks, and 'tisn't the vally of the teeth what annoys me, but 'tis the nashty, ghastly, wishous disposition of the jackass."

Sir Samuel Spry sprang up in the well of the court in a fury and exclaimed, "He has called me a jackass!" The court was convulsed with laughter, and Hicks was promptly and fully acquitted of the trumpery charge brought against him.—Cornhill Magazine.

Great Wars From Trifles.

Great wars, pregnant with bloodshed and all the horrors accruing thereto, have very often been the outcome of trifling incidents which might, had they been treated properly, have been smoothed over and the slaughter averted. More often was this the case in earlier times than it is now. Every one knows that William the Conqueror lost his life in France through his horse treading on a redhot cinder while he was superintending the burning of Mantes, but few people know the fact which gave rise to the campaign that cost William his life.

During the latter part of his reign he became abnormally stout and consequently the laughingstock of not only his subjects, but his neighbors across the water. One day his contemporary, Philip of France, compared him to a fillet of veal on casters and suggested that he should be exhibited at a prize monarch show. This so enraged William that he straightway made war upon his ridiculer, and the loss of thousands of lives was the result.—London Tit-Bits.

Gestures Part of Talk.

There is a man who from a very early age has lived in countries where Spanish is the almost universal tongue. From force of this training he speaks Spanish perfectly. He has not the slightest trace of an English accent, and persons who do not know that he is of American parentage are willing to believe he is a Spaniard, merely from hearing him talk. He is so perfectly bilingual that it shows even in his gestures. When talking with English speaking persons he sits quietly and does his conversing with his mouth alone. Only in case of making a point most emphatically does he use a gesture. But the moment he drops into Spanish his every word is accompanied by a movement of the hands or arms. It is interesting to watch the change from the English to the Spanish side of him, because it comes so suddenly. He really can't speak Spanish without gesturing.—New York Sun.

Some Slang Words.

A remarkable fact is that many slang words have a classical origin. For example, the word "mill," a vulgarism for a fight, is traceable to the Greek word "hamilla," which means a combat.

"Uncle," the affectionate term for a pawnbroker, is derived from the Latin "uncus," a hook on which the article pledged was hung.

To go before "the beak" is a distinct reference to the old Roman custom of adorning the platform from which justice dispensed with the beaks of ships, which platform came to be called the rostrum, that being the Latin for a beak or prow.

Cruel.

The rich bachelor sighed and looked at the beautiful girl fixedly. "Things are at sixes and sevens with me. I feel the great need of a woman in my home, one who could straighten out my tangled affairs and make life worth living again." Her glance spoke an interest which approximately expectation. "Yes?" she queried softly. He blurted out, "Do you know of any good, ablebodied woman whom I could get to clean house?"—Argonaut.

A Sure Scheme.

Young Wife—I am determined to learn at what hour my husband comes home at nights. Yet do what I will I cannot keep awake, and he is always careful not to make a particle of noise. Is there any drug which produces wakefulness? Old Wife—No need to buy drugs. Sprinkle the floor with tacks.

Aristocratic Fowls.

"Do animals have their social customs and institutions?"

"I presume so. I have no doubt that the geese have their descendants of the cacklers who saved Rome."—Puck.

His Specialty.

Friend—That new gardener seems to be a very hard worker. Suburbanite—Yes, that's his specialty. Friend—What? Working? Suburbanite—No, seeming to.—Town Topics.

Oil of Bergamot.

The world's supply of oil of bergamot comes from a comparatively small part of Calabria, in the extreme south of Italy, fronting on the strait of Messina.

The Persevering Guesser.

"It is amazing what perseverance will achieve," said an Englishman. "Even misdirected perseverance has achieved marvels. There is the case of Robson, the great Notts cricketer. Robson during his Australian tour was determined one sorching afternoon that his side shouldn't do the hard work of fielding. Well, when the Australian captain spun the coin Robson shouted, 'Woman!' Then, seeing that heads lay uppermost, instead of acknowledging defeat Robson said, with perseverance and nonchalance:

"'Well, we'll go in.'

"'But—er—I thought,' said the puzzled Australian—'you see, I don't quite know the English meaning of "woman."'

"'Then,' said Robson gallantly, 'we'll toss again.'

"The Australian made a second toss. Robson called heads, and tails came up. The ordinary man would at this point have surrendered in despair, but not so Robson.

"'Honors are now easy,' said he, with a pleasant smile. 'On with the rubber.'

"The Australian a third time flipped the coin, and, having at last called the toss correctly, the persevering Robson led in his side to the shady benches."

An Unofficial Order.

Thomas, tenth Earl of Dundonald, at his death vice admiral in the English navy, tells in his "Autobiography of a Seaman" of an incident on board the Hind, on which he served as midshipman. The pet of the ship was a parrot, the aversion of the boatswain, whose whistle the bird learned to imitate exactly.

"One day a party of ladies paid us a visit aboard. By the usual means of a 'whip' on the yardarm several had been hoisted on deck. The chain had descended for another. Scarcely had its fair freight been lifted out of the boat alongside when the parrot piped, 'Let go!'

"The order was instantly obeyed, and the unfortunate lady, instead of being comfortably seated on deck, was soused in the sea. Luckily for her, the men were on the watch and quickly pulled her out, and, luckily for the parrot, the boatswain was on shore or this unseasonable assumption of the boatswain's functions might have ended tragically for the bird."

How Prisoners Converse.

A man who was sent to jail recently for three days for a small offense was greatly impressed with the precautions taken to prevent the prisoners engaging in conversation. There seemed to be warders everywhere, and no one was allowed to utter a word.

On the Sunday he was in the church the psalm given was the "Old Hundredth." Beside him were two old jailbirds, and instead of the orthodox words beginning "All people that on earth do dwell" this pair sang a hymn of their own in conversational style, which went something as follows: First convict sings:

"How long are you in for?
I am doing sixty days.
I nearly broke a copper's jaw.
Sing low or else they'll maybe hear."

Second convict replies:

"You are a lucky pic-can.
I've got twel-elve months to serve.
Tried to break into a house.
Some'dy must have gi'en me away."

By this method they exchanged histories during the singing.—Glasgow News.

Too Humiliating.

A certain small boy of six is rapidly assuming manly ways. Not long ago his "room" at school planned an entertainment. There were to be little songs and recitations and a mysterious grab bag. The small boy waxed eloquent concerning the coming glories of this show, and more especially the part he would take.

On the morning of the entertainment his mother suggested that he should take his little sister, aged four, with him. He hung his head.

"Don't you want to take her?" his mother asked.

"No, I don't," he answered.

"And why not?"

The reply came quickly.

"'Cause there ain't none of th' other fellers has to bring their children!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

No Acid Needed.

Weary William Rhoades—Say, Happy, wot's de difference between us an' new fall cidor?

Happy Harry—Search me.

Weary William Rhoades—Dey don't have ter put no acid in us ter keep us frum workin'."

At which the dry hay in the mow burst into a furious flame.—Exchange.

Getting His Straight.

"I wouldn't make a confidante of May," said the conceited fellow, with a self satisfied smirk. "She told me you said you were crazy to marry me. Of course she's no friend if"—

"No," interrupted Miss Wise, "and she's not even a good reporter. I didn't say I 'was,' but 'would be.'"—Catholic Standard and Times.

Noiseless.

Wife—Would it please you, dear, if I learned another language? Husband—Yes, it would delight me infinitely. Wife—Well, which one shall I study? Husband—The sign language.—Smart Set.

A Woman's Secret.

Biggs—There goes a woman with a past. Boggs—Yes, and there are about twenty years more of it than she is willing to own up to.—New York Journal.

Great is the fact that our interests gradually take a wider scope, allowing more scope for the healing power of compensation.—Dinah Mulock Craik.

A Barbarian.

D. D. Mann, the Canadian railroad builder, had a sensational career, beginning as an axman in the Canadian lumber woods.

Early in life Mann visited Europe on a business mission and at a dinner one night became involved in a quarrel with a Russian nobleman. Next day he received a call from one of the nobleman's friends, bearing an invitation to a duel. "If he doesn't like what I said to him, let him come up and tell me so," said Mann. "He can come a-running, too, and carry any size gun he likes."

The friend explained that would never do. Nothing but the regular thing on the field of honor would do.

"Oh, all right!" said Mann. "I've been fighting duels all my life. But I'll have to insist on using my national weapon—a sixteen pound double bitted ax."

The friend went away holding up his hands at the barbarian. That night the nobleman met Mann. He was about the size of a grasshopper. Mann is something over six feet high and four wide, with no fat. "I fight you, m'soo," said the nobleman, "with the weapon of any civilize nation, but I be hanged if I commit suicide."

Clerk or Bricklayer?

"You often hear clerks say they would rather be bricklayers on account of the pay, but they don't know what they're talking about. Clerking beats bricklaying every day in the week and twice on Sunday."

He took another cheese sandwich in his long, pale, ink stained fingers and, perched on the lunch counter's high stool, declaimed warmly:

"Clerks, however poor, are popular with the ladies on account of their fine clothes, but bricklayers, when they go sparking, get the cold shoulder.

"A bricklayer, no matter how much he makes, has trouble in getting into swell boarding houses, for his clothes soil the fine furniture, but a clerk, with his white hands, is welcome in any house he can afford.

"I know what I'm talking about, for I bricklaid two years before I took to clerking. And you'll find lots of young bricklayers forsaking the trowel for the pen; but, though clerks often say bitterly that they'd rather lay bricks than push a pen, they don't really mean it—they never turn."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"The Dog of Montargis."

Animal actors are by no means new to the stage. There are on record instances where a four legged performer has made the greatest success in a play, drawing hundreds of people night after night by the magnetism of his inarticulate art. In 1814 "The Dog of Montargis" was produced at Covent Garden theater, London. It was written around a true incident in which a man was murdered in the forest of Bondy and the murderer tracked by means of his dog. One day this dog suddenly sprang at the throat of a man and almost killed him, whereupon the wretch, terror struck, confessed that he was the murderer. This dramatic incident formed the basis of the play, and everything depended upon the cleverness of the dog. He was called Dragon, and his acting was so marvelous that the play achieved a remarkable success, running for thirty-nine performances.

Boston's English.

"If I were asked to name the city of these United States where the purest English is now spoken," said Otis Skinner, the actor, "I should unhesitatingly pronounce in favor of Boston. The clarity of speech there is not confined to people of wealth and culture, but extends to the working classes, the toilers and persons in all stations of life. I do not say that this excellence in articulation and this admirable pronunciation can be found all over New England. Corruption of speech begins not many miles from Boston, and the distressing nasal twang is difficult to escape. In Philadelphia a peculiar burr that is distinctly provincial prevails. From Pittsburg to other sections of the middle west this burr assumes more or less exasperating forms."

Wanted Results.

"You are always trying to throw cold water on my literary ambitions," growled the aspiring author. "You say it doesn't pay. Look at Charles Dickens, will you? He left a fortune of $400,000, all earned with his pen."

"I know it, dear," said his wife, caressing him, "but don't you remember that Aladdin could make more than that in five minutes by simply rubbing an old lamp? I'd so much rather you'd do something of that kind, Will!"—Chicago Tribune.

Economical.

"I'd rather waltz than eat," confided the sweet girl.

"Then we'll have another dance instead of going to that fashionable restaurant," remarked the thrifty swain. "And," he added mentally, "that's $6 saved."—Kansas City Journal.

Stung.

"That man has no conscience."

"Why do you think so?"

"He cheated me fearfully in a horse trade in which I supposed I was easily getting the better end of the bargain."—Chicago Record-Herald.

He Was Perfectly Frank With Her.

"I will never marry a man," said a haughty young woman, "whose fortune has not at least five ciphers in it."

"Take me," replied her admirer, a young lawyer. "Mine is all ciphers."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Glory should follow, not be pursued.—Pliny.

A STATE BANK

The Bank of Glendale

Is organized under the laws of the State of California, by California people who used their California money, managed by citizens of California, examined by the Bank Examiner of the State of California, whose duty it is to see that it is conducted in accordance with the banking laws of the State of California.

The new banking law of the State of California includes all the best features of the National Banking Law with this difference: The State Banks can loan on real estate security, while the National Banks cannot.

Wouldn't a mortgage on California real estate add to the security for a loan?

A LANDSCAPE RARE.

On landscape filled with beauty rare
Wrought by a far-famed painter's hand,
I oft have gazed the while it seemed
A picture of fair Caanan's land.

But fairer landscape dearer far
Lies spread before my raptured eyes,
A valley fair as Eden's were
Encircling hills in beauty rise.

Fair palms by rose-bowered cottages
Stand where were Indian paths of old
And orchards sweet with bud and bloom,
Hold richer gifts than miser's gold.

Among the fields of bearded grain
Stand native sons, brave live oak trees,
Tall eucalyptus graceful wave
O'erswept by balmy southern breeze.

Above the range of gray-green hills
Sierra Madre mountains rise,
Gaunt watch towers keeping silent guard forest vale 'neath western skies.

When gather fleecy clouds at eve
Crimson and gold athwart the West,
And amethyst the mountains shok,
Then is my landscape at its best.

WEST GLENDALE SCHOOL—FINE ENTERTAINMENT.

On April 2nd in the Knights of Pythias hall, was given a most creditable exhibit of school work and a program of which the West Glendale school had just cause to be proud. Mrs. Edmund S. Shank, soloist for First Presbyterian church in Los Angeles through the courtesy of a school patron, gave several exquisite numbers.

Miss Fitzgerald, Los Angeles, a finished expressionist, gave two readings and Mrs. McMullen sang a number. Under the training of Mrs. Gibson the boys' chorus, composed of twenty-two pupils, rendered some captivating negro melodies, which were so good they will be repeated upon request on the 26th at the K. P. hall. The girls' chorus, 22 girls, gave some sweet lullabies.

The mandolin and guitar renditions called for encores, and of vast amusement was the playlet "Gettin' Ready," given by pupils.

The school exhibit covered three walls of the big hall. Perhaps of most interest was that done by the primary department, little sunbonnet babies seed-work. One exhibit was a drawing of the new West Glendale school executed by Hortense Rand, 8th grade. The little tots of Mrs. Taylor's room sang a movement song very sweetly, winning praise from an audience of three hundred.

The school closes next week for a spring vacation.

MASONIC GAB-FEST A SUCCESS.

Fun and good fellowship were abroad Tuesday night at the big gab-fest in the Masonic hall until it was conceded by all to be the best time of the season for which the Masons were responsible. The "conversational promenade" originated by a hoo-doo member, was pure fun from start to finish, and called out quick repartee and ready originality from the participants. Honors were very fairly won, and fell to Mrs. J. A. Colgrove of Fifth street, and to Rev. Henry of Tropico and chaplain of Unity Lodge. The prizes were a very handsome china plate, and a paper knife. In the program bright numbers were two little Irish ballads by Mrs. Daniel Campbell, a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Ayres of Tropico with violin and cornet, and a splendid rendition of the "Polish Boy," by Mrs. John Hunchberger.

The refreshment tables proved popular numbers, yet not more so than the accompanying toasts, given by Dr A. L. Bryant on "The Ladies"; Harry Coker on "Sociability"; David Imler gave "The Gentleman"; Rev. Henry "Candidates"; and M. Z. Remsburgh "Grips and Passes."

The capacity attendance was certainly complimentary to those very able gentlemen having the entertainment in charge, and to them praise was awarded without stint.

CRADLE SONGS OF NATIONS.

There is a new musical organization composed of wives of members of the Glendale Country Club and those musically inclined, who are identified with the Matrons and Maids (formerly known as the Woman's Auxiliary). Plans are incubating for a very smart social and musical affair to transpire about the first of June and the intention is to give, in concert, the cradle songs of all nations, a fact which will doubtless draw a capacity house. Splendid talent will be employed for interpretation of the various lullabies employed by mothers of the world over. The conductress is a musician of great experience and capability, and as she has good material upon which to work such a concert can hardly fail to prove the musical event of the season.

AT THE COUNTRY CLUB.

Third Monday.

Under direction of Mrs. Bert Richardson of Tropico and an able corps of ladies, the third Monday this month will be notably pleasant and interesting.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Wheat makes record price of $1.28 in Chicago and is general advance in all the world markets.

Serious internal political troubles in Russia; opposition to government becoming more general and outspoken.

The twelfth juror selected in the case against Patrick Calhoun in San Francisco. The trial will probably occupy another month.

Louis Glass, former president of Pacific States Telephone company in San Francisco, who was convicted of giving bribes, is granted a new trial.

Ex-city officials of Los Angeles, including Harper and Kern, refuse to testify before special grand jury, presumably on the plea that to do so would incriminate themselves.

Revolt of Turkish troops in Constantinople and secure removal of Grand Vizier. Sultan has accepted resignation of his ministry and will form new cabinet.

Nick Oswald charged with forgery and granted immunity by District Attorney Fredericks, returns to Los Angeles and gives testimony before special grand jury implicating ex-city officials and others in "graft" participation.

NOTICE INVITING STREET WORK PROPOSALS

Pursuant to Statute and to Resolution No. 254 of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, California, adopted the 24th day of March, 1909, directing this notice, the undersigned invites and will receive at his office, in the City Hall, at 708 West Fourth Street, up to 7:30 p.m. of Wednesday, the 21st day of April, 1909, sealed proposals or bids for the following street work to be done according to the specifications and plans adopted for the said work, on file, to-wit:

First: That a cement curb be constructed along the east side of the roadway of Central Avenue from the south curb line of Doran Street to the Southerly City Boundary line of the City of Glendale(excepting along such portions of the lines of said roadway upon which a cement curb has already been constructed to the official grade and line), including returns at all street intersections, in accordance with specifications for the construction of cement curbs on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Glendale, said specifications being numbered 2, except that the top of the street face of all curbs from the North curb line of Fourth Street to the South curb line of Doran Street shall be placed fourteen (14) feet from the property line instead of the distance from the property line provided for in said specifications number 2.

Second: That a cement sidewalk (5) feet in width be constructed along the east side of Central Avenue from the South curb line of Doran Street to the Southerly City Boundary line of the City of Glendale, (excepting along that portion of the east side of Central Avenue upon which a cement sidewalk four (4) feet or more in width has already been constructed to the official line and grade), said sidewalk to be constructed according to specifications for the construction of cement sidewalks on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Glendale, said specifications being numbered 1.

Sec. 2. That the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale finds upon estimates directed to be furnished and furnished by the City Engineer, that the total cost of said improvements will be greater than fifty cents per front foot along the east side of said street, including the cost of intersections, and it is hereby determined in pursuance of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, approved February 27, 1893, as amended by an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, amending said last named Act, which amending Act became a law March 2, 1899, that bonds shall be issued to represent the cost of said improvements; said bonds shall be serial, extending over a period of ten years and an even proportion of the principal sum of such bonds shall be payable annually by coupon, on the second day of January of each year after their date, until the whole are paid, and said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of seven (7) per cent. per annum on all sums unpaid; payable semi-annually by coupons, on the second days of January and July of each year.

Bidders must file with each proposal or bid, a check payable to the order of the President of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, certified by a responsible bank, for an amount which shall not be less than ten per cent. of the aggregate of the proposal, or a bond for the said amount and so payable, signed by the bidder and two sureties, who shall justify before any officer competent to administer oaths, for double the said amount, and over and above all statutory exemptions. In bidding use blanks which will be furnished by the City Clerk upon application.

Going to Move

About May 1st we shall move into new and more commodious quarters in the Hurtt Block, occupying the storeroom now used by Petersen & Co. Maybe you know it better as the Odd Fellows' Hall building. In the meantime you will find us doing business at the old stand, always ready to serve you with the best in the drug line that the market affords, reliable as to quality and reasonable in price. But we have a lot of other things besides drugs and don't want to move them all. Come and see us.

Social and Personal

Try the Glendale Market for your Sunday meat order.

Mr. Thomas Watson and family have moved to Third street, near Cedar.

Miss Cochran of Provo, Utah, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. E. Clay of Ivy street.

John Doyle is spending his vacation in the mountains near Santa Barbara hunting bear.

Don't forget that the Glendale Market carries the best of everything in the meat line.

A number of Glendale lovers of good music attended the Ellis concert Tuesday evening.

Mrs. M. Kressler of Los Angeles spent the day with friends on Fifth street Thursday.

Miss Effie Hauser of Covina was the guest of Miss Mary Doyle, corner Ninth and Glendale avenue.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, osteopath, may be found at her office and residence, 525 Mary street. Sunset Phone 2053.

Mrs. Alfred Klein of Ivy street left for a visit to her mother in Akron, Ohio. She expects to return in July.

Mr. A. H. Conner, from the First National bank of Los Angeles, is relieving Mr. McIntyre at the Bank of Glendale for a few days.

Mrs. Buckwalter of Riverside, formerly of South Bend, Ind., has recently been the house guest of Mrs. Bartlett of Brand boulevard.

The ladies of St. Mark's Guild gave a chicken dinner at the Guild Hall Thursday evening. Nearly 100 persons enjoyed the sumptuous spread and a pleasant social evening followed.

The Misses Pearl and Grace Miller of Minneapolis, Duncan Turner of Glasgow, Scotland, and Miss Anna McLeod, of Vancouver, B. C., were guests of Dr. Jessie A. Russell during the past week.

Among Glendale property owners now residing elsewhere who have been in Glendale during the past week looking after their holdings in town lots were Mr. Wm. Thienes and Mr. S. W. Lyman.

Mr. R. W. Larritt, manager of the Westminster Hotel, Los Angeles, accompanied by his wife and little daughter and his sister, Mrs. Mary Coote, were all day guests at Somerset Farm Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. A. Reed, of 234 Belmont street, died last Wednesday night of a complication of diseases. The funeral will take place this (Saturday) afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Pulliam Undertaking parlors, services to be conducted by Rev. E. K. Fisher.

Mrs. Mary A. Seefloth, who has been spending the winter at her old home in Ohio, returned to Glendale this week glad to have escaped the wintry weather reported to have prevailed in the middle west since she left there ten days ago.

Mr. L. Charles of Angiola, Cal., is one of the recent arrivals at the Glendale Sanitarium. Mr. Charles has 1000 acres of land in the vicinity of Corcoran in the San Joaquin valley and is engaged in raising alfalfa and other farm products.

For decorating an Easter egg in the Owl Drug store contest, Miss Stella Eudemiller of Glendale received the fifth prize out of nine. This is the second prize the young lady has carried off in the last fortnight on her artistic work.

The Glendale Boys' Orchestra will give a concert in Odd Fellows' Hall on Friday evening, April 23d, at 8 o'clock. The admission is 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children. You should attend and encourage the boys with your presence and coin.

The Glendale Dye Works have put on a new wagon on their route to accommodate their rapidly increasing business. Mr. Lewis, who came to Glendale from Hollywood a few months ago, is a rustler and is pleased with business prospects in Glendale.

The first Sunday in May will be opening day for the new Christian Church, corner Sixth and Louise streets, Glendale. Special revival services will begin on that day with J. W. Utter as evangelist and Prof. B. P. Stout as singer. You are invited.

The Glendale fire department boys played a game of basketball with a picked Glendale team, last Tuesday evening, in the rink and won by a score of 27 to 12. They hope to have the Y. M. C. A. second team from Los Angeles out on Tuesday evening next and do things with them.

Mrs. Mc M. Williams, mother of Mrs. J. L. Overton, died at her son's, W. H Williams in Kansas City, April 8th, 1909. Mrs. Williams was 86 years old and the widow of Judge W. W. Williams. Mrs. Williams was the oldest member of the Baptist Association in Missouri, being present at its organization.

The aerial contest which comes off April 24th at the Hippodrome, Fiesta Park, will be an interesting event. We understand that some Glendale and Tropico boys are to participate and they should be encouraged by the presence of a large number of their neighbors while trying to solve the problem of aerial navigation.

Tickets on sale at Glendale and Miradero Pharmacies.

Mrs. Edgar Smith delightfully entertained some Boston, Los Angeles and Gaivanza friends at a "Naturopathic" luncheon recently. Mrs. H. Mann, formerly of Orange, N. J., who gave the afternoon address at the Mother's congress, charmed all present with a talk on her travels and devoted life work for the uplifting of humanity.

The gorgeous coloring of the livery barn of Thomas O. Pierce on Glendale avenue since it received its last coat of paint, attracts the notice of all who come within range. It commands admiration in tones that cannot be denied. Mr. Pierce is not only a wide-awake business man but has the artistic sense in a high state of development.

The Hoo-Doces met on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hunchberger. When the season's scores had been raised a notch higher music was introduced by a guest of the evening, Prof. H. Anderson, music graduate in Berlin, and a friend of the host. Another guest was Miss Helen Best of Pasadena. Delightful refreshments were served.

Mr. L. Herbert Shields arrived in Glendale a few days ago and is visiting his mother, Mrs. Sarah E. Shields of East Fourth street. Mr. Shields is from West Chester, Pa., where he is employed in the business department of the Daily News, a flourishing daily of that section. He will probably remain in Los Angeles, Glendale and vicinity a fortnight.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Glendale Presbyterian church will give a missionary tea at the manse, 125 East Second street, on Tuesday, April 20, 2:30 p. m. The principal topic will be the Freedmen, and Mrs. Janet Henderson of Los Angeles, secretary in Los Angeles Presbyterial society for the work for Freedmen, will be present to speak on that subject. Letters from foreign missionaries will also be read. All are welcome, and newcomers are especially invited.

Services at the Episcopal Church, first Sunday after Easter. Sunday school, at the parish hall; morning prayer and sermon, 10 a. m.; subject, "Which Day and Why?" 11 a. m.; at 3 p. m. the rector will meet at the church all persons who have not been confirmed and are interested in the subject of confirmation. The music of Easter day will be repeated on Sunday. A cordial invitation is extended to all citizens and strangers to the services of this church and the rector desires the regular attendance of all members.

Mr. J. Maxwell Smyth arrived recently in Glendale from Dublin, Ireland, and is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Blue. Mr. Smyth will probably make his home in Los Angeles. Messrs. Blue and Keatings who were pioneers of the exodus from Dublin to California, find upon counting up that Mr. Smyth is the twenty-fourth Irishman in the circle of their own acquaintance in Dublin that has arrived in California since they came here. This is a rather remarkable showing and indicates that the reports sent back by the first comers did not lack the proper coloring.

Mr. George E. Byram has traded his Glendale property for a large body of agricultural land near Chino. Mr. Ira Tucker has done the same with his property on Glendale avenue and Tenth street, and the two will engage in large farming operations in partnership. Both families will move at once to their new homes. Mr. Isaac D. Golder succeeds to both properties here. Both Messrs. Byram and Tucker and their families will be greatly missed in Glendale and Tropico, where they have been long and favorably known and a large circle of friends join in wishing them success in their new enterprise.

The new electric line between here and Eagle Rock is fully justifying its creation by carrying three hundred and forty-seven passengers daily. The car on this line meets all cars on the Eagle Rock line to the city from 6:20 in the morning until midnight. Many tourists come to Glendale over the Pacific Electric road, walk up to Glendale Avenue and return to Los Angeles over the new line by way of Eagle Rock; this makes one of the most scenic trips to be taken in Southern California. The citizens of Glendale are expecting the Pacific Electric to place their tracks on Fourth Street again between Glendale Avenue and Brand Boulevard, which would complete the loop. If they decide not to do so, then the new line will be extended west probably as far as San Fernando Road through the Glendale Valley View tract.

Mrs. J. L. Russ, of 1229 Milford street, entertained Saturday afternoon in honor of her son Georgie's fifth birthday. Games were played on the lawn and an Easter egg hunt was enjoyed by the little folks; after which they all marched into the beautifully decorated dining room. Miss Laura Dedering of Los Angeles presided at the piano. The little folks had charge of the dining room and did ample justice to the dainty refreshments. Tables were spread on the rose-covered veranda for the "grown-ups" who enjoyed the repast as much as the children. Little Georgie received many beautiful gifts. Those present were Georgie Russ, Baby Blue, W. L. Ludlow, jr., Bernie Hand, Bernard Kannephole, ...vin Dunn, Bertha Kannephole, Ruth Elliott, Mildred Kennedy, Margaret Dick, Howard and Mildred Elliott, Mrs. Laura Scamman, Mrs. J. L. Russ, Mrs. Hugh Blue, Mrs. Herbert Kennedy, Mrs. W. J. Ludlow and Miss Ludlow of Burbank, Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. Lillian Gilbert, Mrs. George and Miss Dedederin of Los Angeles, Mrs. J. O. Elliott.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNUAL CONVENTION.

The twenty-fifth annual convention of Los Angeles county, Woman's Christian Temperance Union, will be held at Long Beach, First Baptist church, Fourth and Locust streets. Get off Pacific Electric at Sixth street, two blocks south and one block west. Thursday evening will be demonstration of thirty-six departments of this convention. Friday evening, grand gold medal contest and president's jubilee. Glendale Union comes on the evening. Delegates from Glendale are Mrs. Hattie Gaylord, president; Mrs. D. A. Fitch, Mrs. M. A. Harn, Mrs. Lizzie Lennox, Mrs. Lizzie Musser, Mrs. Lillian Wells, Mrs. L. A. Brown, Mrs. D. F. Hendershott. Everybody welcome, and we do hope every member will go at least one day and bring back the enthusiasm always received.

Hygienic cooking class postponed on account of convention.

METHODIST NOTES.

Last Sunday was a great day for the church. Overflowing congregations. In the morning twenty-four were received upon probation and four by transfer. One was received upon probation in the evening. The Sunday School and the Epworth League were both largely attended.

The pastor will preach both morning and evening, next Sunday. The league is planning for a social either Thursday or Friday night of next week. You are cordially invited to attend all the services of the church.

J. F. HUMPHREY, Pastor.

TROPICO

Mrs. Helen Ungerland has sold her ranch home to Rev. J. W. Utter of the Christian church.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Blain are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knowles of San Francisco.

A May day dance will be given at G. A. R. hall Saturday evening, May 1. Ice cream will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Thresher of Ensenada are visiting Mr. and Mrs. James R. Maxwell of Park avenue.

Daniel Webster of El Centro, is spending a few days as the guest of his son, Joseph H. Webster of Ivy Nook.

The local lodge of Good Templars has changed the meeting night from Friday to Monday evenings at G. A. R. hall.

Davenport and Black report the sale of the home formerly owned by Joseph Burke on Tropico avenue, to Herman Burke.

Mrs. J. H. Seaman and Mrs. Ernest J. Morgan attended a box party at the Orpheum in Los Angeles, Wednesday afternoon.

David H. Imler left for Imperial Tuesday, to be absent six weeks, where he has but recently purchased 640 acres of land.

Mrs. Edward M. Lynch and Mrs. Joseph H. Webster of this place were entertained at lunch by Mrs. W. W. Allen of Los Angeles, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ourand Snyder of Los Angeles were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Weston at their bungalow on Park avenue, Sunday.

The Tropico Improvement Society will hold the regular monthly meeting at the school building Monday evening. A large attendance is desired.

Mrs. J. H. Henry, who was an intimate friend of Madam Modjeska, attended the funeral of this renowned actress Monday morning, at St. Vibiana's cathedral.

Mrs. H. M. Cobuin of Los Angeles, enjoyed Tuesday at the home of Mrs. L. C. Rice on Tropico avenue. Mrs. Rice also entertained Mrs. Hooper of this place, Tuesday.

Rev. D. M. Stuart, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Tropico, but more recently of National City, visited a number of Tropico friends the past week.

Mrs. H. H. Davenport and son, Allen, spent the greater part of last week with Mrs. Davenport's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Lunn at Irwidale. They returned Saturday.

Miss Fannie Marple and Mr. Joseph Marple, jr., were members of a party of young people from the First Methodist church of Los Angeles, who composed a roller skating party at Long Beach, Monday evening.

Mrs. George Byram and children, who have been visiting Mrs. Byram's father and sisters, Mr. S. L. Borthick and Misses Freda and Ruby Borthick of Park avenue, left for their future home at Ontario, Saturday.

The regular communion service will be held at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The new pastor, Rev. Henderson C. Shoemaker will preside and it is hoped that a large number will attend.

John Parker of Glendale is building a five-room house in the Davenport subdivision on Cypress avenue. This structure will be unique in that it will have a pressed brick front. It will be modern throughout and will cost about $1500.

Miss Lucile Pittman of North Glendale, and Misses Evalena Ayers, Blanche Davenport, Ruby and Freda Borthick of this place, attended the matinee at the Burbank theater, Wednesday afternoon, where they witnessed a production of "In Gay New York."

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church was held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Bullis, Friday afternoon of last week. At this meeting further arrangements were made for the bazaar which the ladies expect to give just before the coming holidays.

The last of the series of dances given by the committee of ladies from the Thursday Afternoon club was held in Logan's hall, Friday evening. The attendance was equal to any of the preceding occasions and the evening proved to be very enjoyable. Music for the dancing was furnished by the Burke orchestra from Los Angeles.

Walter and Harvey Fishel, while driving their cows to pasture Monday morning, discovered a fine new bicycle lying hidden among the weeds and underbrush, under a large pepper tree, on the San Fernando road, near Pacific avenue. Owing to the circumstances a certain degree of mystery attends the hiding of the wheel in the secluded place.

C. L. Peckham and family will soon leave Tropico and go to their former home in Chicago. Mr. Peckham will depart in several days and Mrs. Peckham and the children will follow in a short time. The people of this place will reluctantly see these popular people go, for during their stay in this place they have gained a multitude of friends. They have the well wishes of everyone.

The regular meeting of the Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church of this place was held at the home of Mrs. A. B. Scofield on Glendale avenue, Tuesday afternoon. After the business of the afternoon a program in charge of Mrs. Haynes and Mrs. Pratt was given. At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served. The meeting time of the society has been changed from Tuesday to Wednesday afternoon of each week.

Tropico Presbyterian church, corner Laurel and Central, Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock will be celebrated the sacrament of the Lord's supper. The Sunday school meets at 9:45 a. m. The evening service at 7:30. The subject for the evening service will be "The First Chapter of Genesis," its chronology, its authorship, is it scientific? Where did the author get his information? A good choir and a good orchestra will furnish good music for all services.

Miss Fannie Alma Marple entertained a number of friends at her home on the corner of Brand boulevard and Park avenue, Wednesday evening. The evening was very pleasantly spent in games and conversation. The young people made arrangements for a picnic which they will hold in Eagle Rock canyon on Decoration Day. The guests present included Miss Lina Shirley and Frank Shirley of Glendale; Miss Bernice Gray and George Ziegler of Los Angeles and Charles Wrety of Long Beach.

The regular meeting night of the I. O. G. T. of this valley has been changed from Friday evening to Monday evening of each week. It is hoped that all Good Templars of this section will notice this change and will make an attempt to attend regularly. The officials are doing everything in their power to build the lodge up to what it used to be in former days, and although they are having an uphill fight they are confident of winning out in the end. The secretary informs us that it is the intention of the local order to entertain the lodges from Pasadena and Burbank in the near future.

W. P. Banks G. A. R. post was represented at Department Convention held in Pasadena, the past week, by Post Comamnder Dr. J. O. Garmon, Comrades J. B. Hickman, N. F. Reynolds, Robert Taylor, Dr. A. H. Guernsey, Thos. Gillette and Rev. J. H. Henry. The Relief Corps was represented by Mrs. Jessie Stine, corps president, past president, Mrs. Delia Hapgood, Mrs. Clara Lockwood, Mrs. Leona Engelhardt, and Mrs. Mae Burlingham; Mrs. Eugenia Haller, Mrs. Lizzie Ellias, Mrs. Abbie Haskell, Mrs. Lucy Rifenbeuck, delegates; Mrs. Lillian Peckham, aide to chief of staff of department president, and Miss Cora Hickman, department conductor.

YOUNGSTER SEVERELY INJURED.

Last Sunday morning at about 7:00 o'clock, little Clarke Jennings, son of H. A. Jennings, the Tropico blacksmith, accidentally shot himself with a thirty-two calibre revolver.

At quite an early hour the little fellow rose and went absently wandering from room to room of the house. His mother saw him and told him to go back to bed, which he did. After that time everything was perfectly quiet in the home until the shot rang out. The parents rushed to the room where the little fellow was occupying with several brothers, and the boy was found lying upon the floor with blood streaming from his hand and face. The bullet shot away part of the forefinger of the left hand and afterward struck the boy's cheek, tearing its way through the cheek and coming out at the rear and just behind the right ear. Medical aid was summoned and the little fellow was made as easy as possible.

The elder members of the family claim that the revolver was in its regular place on the top of a mantel folding bed, and how the boy reached up to get it they cannot tell. It is most likely that he drew a chair to the bed and after reaching the weapon and before discharging it, returned the chair to its former position.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB MUSICALE.

The musical given by the Thursday Afternoon Club at the home of Mrs. Andrew Stephenson proved one of the most enjoyable affairs of the club season. Mrs. Stephenson was assisted by her sisters, Mrs. John Hobbs and Mrs. J. A. Logan.

The program, with two exceptions, was rendered entirely by members of the club, and showed how much musical ability the club possesses.

Mrs. Wesley Bullis had charge of the program and opened with a reading, "A Song," by James Whitcomb Riley. Miss Anna Angspurger entertained the ladies with a sketch of Chopin and a comparison of him with different poets. She then demonstrated her ability to interpret him understandingly. Then followed a quartette, Mesdames Weston, Conrad, Davenport and Bullis.

Solo and chorus—Mesdames Wattles, Davenport and Conrad.

Whistling solo—Mrs. C. L. Chandler.

Solo—Mrs. C. L. Peckham.

The musical numbers were interspersed with poems and anecdotes.

TROPICO LIBRARY ENLARGED.

Quite a number of the ladies who attended the recent library donation which was held at the home of Mrs. Tesse Stine at her beautiful new home on Fourth street, Glendale, have turned in their books and the list now numbers twenty-nine. Among these books will be noticed several of the most popular fiction of the day and it is expected that the people of the place will take advantage of the opportunity to read the latest editions without cost. Among the books recently donated are:

The Blazed Trail, The Pioneers, Patience, Beric the Briton, a story of Roman invasion; The Destiny of Man, Sacred Science, The Masquerader, Melody, Quincy Adams Sawyer, Three Young Women, Rizanor, God's Good Man, For Name and Fame, Ben, the Luggage Boy, Rough and Ready, Tempest and Sunshine, The Golden Canon, Ester, Zelda Dameron, The Heart of Rome, With Hoops of Steel, A Girl in Waiting, The Little Brown Jog of Kildare, The Pillar of Light, The Princess Maritza, A Little Journey to the World, Masks, Eleanor.

TROPICO METHODIST NOTES.

By the Pastor.

Last Sunday was a most interesting day in the church. The regular session of the Sunday school was held at 10 o'clock and the Easter exercises commenced at 11 o'clock. The edifice was most elaborately decorated with white and green. The decorating work was done by Mr. A. L. Chandler's class, assisted by several older members of the church, on Saturday evening. Arches of date palms branches wees placed on the walls, and smilax and bridal wreaths constituted the trimmings with a great profusion of different varieties of white flowers tastefully placed about the room.

All of the children from the infant department up to the largest, did their parts splendidly and much credit is due Miss Myrtle Harrison for faithfulness in training the children for their exercises. The program was prepared by Mr. Biddle and was greatly appreciated by the congregation. The room was filled.

The solos rendered by Miss Pearl Harrison and Mr. Prescott were beautifully presented and were well received.

In the evening a large crowd turned out to hear a most excellent sermon entitled "The Resurrection," preached by Rev. A. B. Morrison of West Glendale. It was a masterly presentation of the subject.
